

NAD Africa News

Netzwerk Afrika Deutschland
Djibuti: "Africa discovers space"	number of displaced persons ever registered. See:
With Chinese help, the first space station on the African	https://www.unhcr.org/global-trends 20.06.2023 continent is soon to be built in Djibouti. It is supposed to	Kenya: Trade agreement with the EU stand on 10 km ² strategically ideal land, have 7 launch	Kenya and the European Union signed a trade pads and cost a billion dollars. It is the most ambitious	agreement in Nairobi. It is the first major agreement since project on the continent to date. African countries are	2016 with an African country. Once the agreement is hoping for better data on climate change and early	ratified and enters into force, Kenya will gain duty-free warning of droughts and are happy to be able to launch	and quota-free access to the EU, its largest market, their satellites from their own continent into space. Until	where it brings around 1/5 of its total exports. Kenya's now, they have relied on the US, EU or Russia to launch	main exports to the EU are agricultural products, satellites. China has already financed government	including vegetables, fruit and the country's famous tea buildings, a hospital and a stadium in Djibouti. With the	and coffee. More than 70% of Kenya's cut flowers are space base also comes an expressway, a port, and	destined for Europe. For imports from the EU into Kenya, power lines. The first launch pad is scheduled to be in	such as chemicals and machinery, tariffs will be place in 2024, and the entire base by 2028. Then there	progressively reduced over a period of 25 years; should be a joint Chinese-Djiboutian leadership of the	however, some products are excluded. The EU has taken rank and file for 30 years. 22.06.2023	steps to counter China's "Belt and Road" program, Morocco: Going to Africa by train?	announcing that it will increase investment in Kenya by Morocco and Spain have concretized plans for a train	hundreds of millions of dollars through its own Global connection between their countries and can count on EU	Gateway initiative. 19.06.2023 support. Plans for a rail tunnel between Europe and the	Angola: Establishment of a cybersecurity academy African continent have existed since the 1970s. Now the	At the 3rd edition of ANGOTIC 2023 (an international important strategic project is to be pushed ahead. The	forum for information and communication technologies in model for the "Gibraltar Tunnel" is the Eurotunnel	Angola), head of state João Lourenço announced plans between France and Great Britain, which was completed	to establish a cybersecurity academy in the country. He in 1994. While the latter runs 37 km under the English	also spoke about the creation of a regulatory framework
Channel, the Strait of Gibraltar is only 14 km between the	for the use of telecommunications networks and that two countries. Earlier estimated costs were around 5	measures had been taken to promote free, secure and billion euros with a construction period of 15 years. Travel	efficient use of cyberspace by public and private entities.
time from Spain to Morocco. 22.06.2023	Indigenous peoples versus climate protection
Marine conservation: a treaty of importance	programs?
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193	Survival International, an international non-governmental
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193 member states of the United Nations have adopted a	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193 member states of the United Nations have adopted a groundbreaking legally binding treaty on marine	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193 member states of the United Nations have adopted a groundbreaking legally binding treaty on marine biodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193 member states of the United Nations have adopted a groundbreaking legally binding treaty on marine biodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans. The 5 most important points are: Protection across	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193 member states of the United Nations have adopted a groundbreaking legally binding treaty on marine biodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans. The 5 most important points are: Protection across borders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management of	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193 member states of the United Nations have adopted a groundbreaking legally binding treaty on marine biodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans. The 5 most important points are: Protection across borders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management of fish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision to	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now Party	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end of	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now Party	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization and	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia National	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade marked	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled " Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset "
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle to	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled " Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya".
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy and	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled " Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which was	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for the	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament and	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the national	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-2023	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled " Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-202320 June World Refugee Day	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the spread of jihadist violence. Russian Wagner
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-202320 June World Refugee DayIt is the day that reminds us that millions of people are	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the spread of jihadist violence. Russian Wagner mercenaries now support Mali's military ruler.
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-202320 June World Refugee DayIt is the day that reminds us that millions of people areforced to leave their homes. The United Nations High	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the spread of jihadist violence. Russian Wagner mercenaries now support Mali's military ruler. Eswatini: a new Eco-green City planned with the
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-202320 June World Refugee DayIt is the day that reminds us that millions of people areforced to leave their homes. The United Nations HighCommissioner for Refugees publishes the annual report	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the spread of jihadist violence. Russian Wagner mercenaries now support Mali's military ruler. Eswatini: a new Eco-green City planned with the support of the African Development Bank's UMDF
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-202320 June World Refugee DayIt is the day that reminds us that millions of people areforced to leave their homes. The United Nations HighCommissioner for Refugees publishes the annual report"Global Trends", which summarizes the dramatic	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the spread of jihadist violence. Russian Wagner mercenaries now support Mali's military ruler. Eswatini: a new Eco-green City planned with the support of the African Development Bank's UMDF https://www.afdb.org/en/news-and-events/press-
After nearly two decades of tough negotiations, the 193member states of the United Nations have adopted agroundbreaking legally binding treaty on marinebiodiversity that covers two-thirds of the world's oceans.The 5 most important points are: Protection acrossborders - Cleaner oceans - Sustainable management offish stocks - Lowering temperatures - Decision toimplement the 2030 Agenda.20.06-2023Mozambique: RENAMO now PartyThe international community has welcomed the end ofthe process of disarmament, demobilization andreintegration of RENAMO (Resistencia NationalMocambicana). Renamo leader Ossufo Momade markedthe occasion by handing over an AK47 rifle toMozambican President Filipe Nyusi at the last closedRenamo base. The Renamo is now officially recognizedas a political party in Mozambique. The UK, USA,Canada, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Italy andSwitzerland contributed to the Basket Fund, which wasestablished to provide financial support for thedecentralization and demobilization, disarmament andreintegration of Renamo soldiers into the nationalsecurity forces.20.06-202320 June World Refugee DayIt is the day that reminds us that millions of people areforced to leave their homes. The United Nations HighCommissioner for Refugees publishes the annual report	Survival International, an international non-governmental organisation advocating for the rights of tribal peoples, is questioning the way in which a project to combat climate change is being implemented in large parts of northern Kenya. The Northern Rangelands Trust project aims to change the grazing methods used by ranchers to reduce carbon emissions. The resulting "savings" of carbon are then sold by the Trust as "carbon credits" in a "carbon offset" system. The American technology company Meta (formerly Facebook) and the film streaming service Netflix are said to be among the buyers of credits from the project. Survival International, published a critical report entitled "Blood Carbon: how a carbon offset scheme makes millions from indigenous land in Northern Kenya". More info: https://netzwerkafrika.de/ Mali: Immediate end to UN peacekeeping mission Mali's foreign minister has called on the United Nations to withdraw its peacekeepers from his country "without delay." Abdoulaye Diop accused Minusma of having "become part of the problem by fueling tensions between communities." Minusma has more than 13,000 troops. Its decades-long mission has failed to stop the spread of jihadist violence. Russian Wagner mercenaries now support Mali's military ruler. Eswatini: a new Eco-green City planned with the support of the African Development Bank's UMDF